PROFESSIONAL MATCHMAKERS FOR EXCEPTIONAL SINGLES

Being “single and searching” is supposed to be easier than it once was. We are no longer expected to make our way to the local bar to meet our mate. And no one’s twisting our arm to go to the firm’s Christmas party, in hopes we’ll meet a beautiful woman we haven’t already met in the elevator.

Thanks to savvy technology, we can “virtually” date from our very own laptop, and/or read our future date’s “profile” from the convenience of our Blackberries and Treos.

And what about all those singles services we keep hearing about?

Speed dating, I-dating, dating services, group dinner dating, lunch dates; date, date, date... Maybe that Christmas party doesn’t sound so bad. Well, sit back and take a deep breath. We found one company in this billion-dollar industry that stands alone... and the best part about them, the word “date” never comes up!

Meet Jill Kelleher and her daughter Amber Kelleher-Andrews. Their company, Kelleher & Associates, Inc., works like an executive search firm for us busy professionals. Hmmm, “head hunters” for our love life? What a great concept!

This well-known matchmaking team has graced the high-end magazines we read, been featured in the publications on the airlines we fly, and has shown up on our television screens for over two decades. That’s right – 20 years!

The Kellehers have been described as the “Matchmakers to the Rich and Famous” by 20/20, but if asked, they will say they represent “regular people” too. “Our clients are all passionate about who they are and what they have accomplished, both personally and professionally,” says Jill, the company’s founder and CEO.

With further research, we’ve uncovered that Jill and Amber have an impeccable reputation and represent today’s top professionals, many of whom hold high-level positions at major companies this magazine writes about. Who knew?

Jill and Amber knew, and so do the hundreds of executives who each year discreetly use Kelleher to find their perfect mates. “We keep our client list totally confidential,” says Jill. “Men don’t tell people they met their wife through a matchmaker, they tell everyone they met through mutual friends.”

The secret to the company’s longevity and success?

“That’s simple,” Jill says. “It’s our clientele. We represent the most attractive, well-educated and interesting people in the world, and they are incredible people to work with.”

In many respects, the Kellehers have replicated the advantages of a franchise: familiarity, multiple offices nationwide and brand recognition. Yet they have simultaneously maintained their hands-on approach, another key to their success.

Their headquarters is in the San Francisco Bay area, but the Kellehers’ list of exceptional clientele continues to grow across the nation. In fact, they have clients in every state.

“Why leave your love life to chance?” asks Amber. “Let’s face it, who you choose to spend your life with is one of the most important decisions you will ever make. Our clients trust us to introduce them to the right one.”

For the busy executive who has everything but “the right one,” the Kellehers are just a Blackberry or a Treo or a phone call away!
